MRS. J. C. AINSLEY ENTERTAINS FRIENDS AT CHARMING PARTY

In the spring a young man's fancy may turn to thoughts of love, but feminine thoughts turn to parties and the St. Patrick season affords not a golden, but a green opportunity. Anent which, Mrs. J. C. Ainsley entertained five tables of friends at a charming bridge luncheon Wednesday.

Both indoors and out a wealth of blossoms made a beautiful setting for the bright spring dresses of the guests.

The dainty luncheon tables and the menu carried out a color scheme of green and white. Dainty baskets of white hyacinths, white flowering peach, and snow drops with maiden hair fern and tulle bows centered the tables.

A visit to the gardens was enjoyed after luncheon before the afternoon play commenced. Table prizes in keeping with the general motif were awarded Mrs. R. H. Hyde, Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, Miss Mary Rodeck, Mrs. C. W. Wolf and Mrs. H. C. Smith.

Local Cagers Lose S.C.V.L. Champ Tilt

Coach Noddin's 130 pound cagers lost to the Morgan Hill quint the deciding game in the S. C. V. league championship tournament on the local court Friday night. The game, score 15-13, was fraught with thrills and was anybody's meat till the last few seconds of play, when the Live Oak lads cinch a victory on free throws. Farris, Morgan Hill forward, accepted the first gift and Togana made the final toss.

The first quarter was fast from start to finish, ending three all. In the next frame Campbell failed to score and Morgan Hill took a four point lead on as many charity throws.

Lea, Campbell star, tied the score at 7-7 in the third square. In the final frame Morgan Hill took the lead on a field goal. Lea took a free throw, bringing the score 9 to 8 and Togana and Ducoty brought in four tallies with two field goals. KIWANIS LUNCHEON
By H——!

Jim Dempsey, Irish or not, is strong on the blarney and made his band like it Tuesday at luncheon, where he presided. The club was given a real enjoyable discourse on "An Irishman Abroad," by Maj. Richard Stafford of the Moreland Truck company, San Francisco. Mr. Stafford, who served with the British troops in the World war, has traveled extensively and has had noted many humorous incidents on his travels. He was aide-de-camp to the prince of Wales during his stay in Canada and gave some first hand information concerning "his highness."

The Major is an Irishman by birth, English by education, Scotch (good Scotch) by absorption and American by adoption. He believes that every man who comes to this country should take out his citizenship papers as soon as possible. "A man who makes his living in this country owes his pledge and support to the government," said Major Stafford.

He delivered his fifty-third talk to a Kiwanis club when he addressed the members of the Campbell club, and felt very much at home there.

The Kiwanis motto, "We Build," was again exemplified when the membership gave its unanimous support to the new high school project.

Reports of workers on the Scout-Campfire building campaign showed that a very gratifying figure had already been pledged.

John Brokenshire of the Mercury-Herald will talk next Tuesday on "The History of the Newspaper." H. C. Smith will be chairman.

Plans are being made for the club to go to Palo Alto on March 26.

"Scandinavia"

Finland is not included in the term "Scandinavia." Scandinavia includes Sweden, Norway and Denmark, strictly speaking, but some geographers include the adjacent islands and Iceland

WARNINGS ON SPECULATION. THE FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD. $25 A DAY. $2,000,000 MORE FROM J. D. R.

There are bad features about the generally ignorant speculation in stocks. Money thus invested might better be invested in other ways. Inevitably, buying ignorantly and recklessly, many are doomed to bear heavy losses.

It is necessary to issue warnings and the Federal Reserve Bank warning is based of course on excellent intentions.

But between warnings and ACTION there is a wide margin. To tell outside banks that they must not lend money on call, giving a monopoly to New York City banks and gigantic profit to holders of New York bank stocks, may not be the best way to solve the money and speculation problems.

Another week opening finds Wall Street refusing to be scared to death. Speculators are like "Old Dog Tray, ever faithful." Grief cannot drive them away.

Jack up the interest rate, and still they say, "I think stocks are going to be worth more and so I am going to buy them." The prices lifted up their little heads as soon as the market opened, and kept them up.

One comforting fact for gentlemen that speculate in stocks, paying ten, twelve and more per cent for money: Federal Reserve Bank in 1928 made a net profit of $64,053,000, or $21,000,000 more than in 1927. It seems only reasonable that the Federal Reserve Bank, efficient in putting up interest rates, should get a good share of the profit.

Corporations get good service and government, sometimes poor service. Colonel Lindbergh is named Federal Aviation Adviser, and WHEN HE WORKS his Uncle Sam will pay him $25 a day.

All Hollywood knows that Lindbergh could have had $500,000 for making one picture, which would have paid him about $10,000 an hour for his work.

However, as Lindbergh says, flying is his business, and $25 a day for work on Government flying would suit him better than any price for standing before a camera. Besides, he has a job with General Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania, selecting landing places, etc., for the railroad which will pay a salary considerably better than $25 a day.

If men are welcomed in Heaven in proportion to their deeds on earth, there will be a special committee of welcome to meet John D. Rockefeller when he arrives. May it be fifty years hence.

President Angell of Yale University announced a gift of $2,000,000 from Mr. Rockefeller for expansion of Yale's medical department, the building of a laboratory, etc.

Mr. Rockefeller is the only man that has given away HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

Since the people do not know enough to use their unlimited resources for their own welfare, they are fortunate in having intelligent men that collect hundreds of millions and spend them usefully for education, health, scientific research combatting disease, etc.

Weight of Air

Damp air weighs less than dry air. The dampness is due to the vapor of water in the air, and vapor of water is lighter than most of the other gases of the atmosphere.

Hoover Secretary

George Akerson, who is the secretary to President Herbert Hoover.

"I feel it coming," said Billie Rabbit to his brother Bobbie.

"Feel what coming?" asked Bobbie.

"I feel it coming that I'm going to learn something and I want you to tell me where I can go to find out what I want to know."

Bobbie answered: "I don't know what you are after, but why not consult the Wise Old Owl—he knows everything."

"Fine idea!" exclaimed Billie.

"Don't you want me to go with you?" asked Bobbie, in a surprised tone.

"I'd be glad to have you, but I didn't know you wanted to learn. I want to learn more than we learn at school."

"Come on then, and we'll go and consult the Wise Old Owl who is usually in the old oak tree."

In a few minutes the young Rabbits were at the foot of the oak tree and the Wise Old Owl was looking down at them as though he could see, although he really couldn't look at them until it was quite dark.

"I pray thee," began Billie, "we came to ask for knowledge. Can you tell us anything we do not know?"

"Ahem, ahem, ahem!!" went the Wise Old Owl. "How many full moons in a year? And where does the new moon rise and where does the full moon rise and—"

"Wait, wait! You go too fast," shouted Bobbie.

The two Rabbits were thoughtful for a time and then they said:

"We give up."

"How stupid!!" sighed the Wise Old Owl. "Here you are running around every night and know nothing about the moon. My dears, there are thirteen full moons in a year and the new moon rises in the East and the full moon in the West. That's enough for one night. Run along now, for the Goblins will get you if you don't watch out."

Narrow Idea

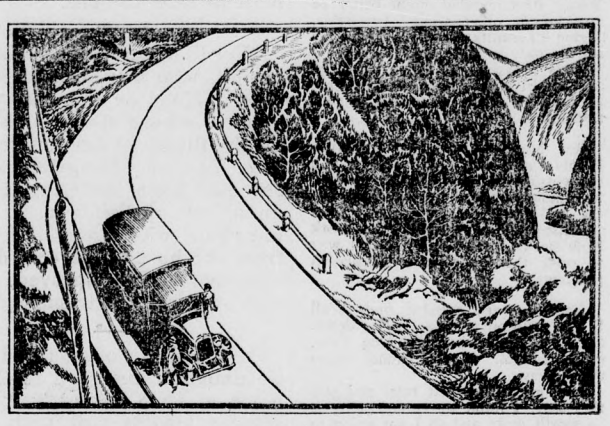
Egyptian Builders

An Egyptologist says that the Egyptians set up tall obelisks, like Cleopatra's Needle, by building a temporary embankment with a deep pit in the middle, dragging the monument to the edge of the pit, and tipping it over to stand in place on firm ground.



Getting there ahead of the trouble

DURING the afternoon of March 17, 1928, an alarm bell rang in a telephone test station. This meant that a puncture had been made in the air-tight sheath of a busy inter-city cable. The men on duty knew that the injury was somewhere within 50 miles.

Highly developed locating devices were instantly applied and in sixty-five minutes the trouble spot was located. By 7:15 in the evening, before the break in the sheath had affected service on any of the 248 pairs of wires in the cable, the repairs had been made without one conversation being interrupted. This special alarm system is one of the many mechanical and electrical wonders developed by Bell System engineers to guard telephone conversations.

Automatic warning signals, electrical locating devices, constant testing of all switchboard apparatus and circuits—these are some of the ceaseless efforts that so effectively reduced interruptions to service on Bell lines in 1928. There is no standing still in the Bell System.
